POSILLIPO

by Robert Stadler

Robert Stadler introduces Posillipo, a lighting system that tricks the eye of the beholder, as the electrical cables appear to be the same as the horizontal spacers. This forms a homogeneous grid that challenges the traditional idea of a pendant light. The system can therefore be seamlessly extended in either direction to create both individual luminaires and large scale lighting installations.

Robert Stadler presenta Posillipo, un sistema di illuminazione che inganna l'occhio dello spettatore, facendo apparire i cavi elettrici identici ai distanziatori orizzontali. Questo genera una griglia omogenea che sfida l'idea tradizionale di lampada a sospensione. Il sistema può essere esteso in entrambe le direzioni, dando vita sia a corpi illuminanti singoli sia a installazioni luminose su larga scala.

In the same year the Noguchi Museum in New York presented Solid Doubts, his first institutional exhibition in the US in dialogue with Isamu Noguchi's works. Stadler's presence in the US continued in 2022 with Playdate a solo show at The Glass House, New Canaan, Connecticut and START!, a duo presentation with the works of Richard Artschwager at Carpenters Workshop Gallery in NYC.

by Robert Stadler

The Posillipo collection includes pendant, floor and wall lamps and is characterised by the modularity of its elements. The diffuser is made of sandblasted Pyrex glass, while the electrical cable and structure are covered with textile braiding. The LED source is available in a dimmable version for 24V. All versions are high efficiency and flicker free.

La collezione Posillipo è composta da lampade a sospensione, terra e parete ed è caratterizzata dalla modularità degli elementi che la compongono. Il diffusore è in vetro Pirex sabbaiato mentre il cavo elettrico e la struttura rivestiti con calza tessile. La sorgente LED è disponibile in versione dimmerabile per 24V. Tutte le versioni sono ad alta efficienza e flicker free.
